

Airport Parking In High Demand This Holiday Season

Suffield, CT – November 15, 2004 – AirportParkingReservations.com, a service offering guaranteed parking reservations at discounted rates for travelers departing from airports throughout the US and Canada, anticipates hectic travel conditions for those parking at the airport over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Already many off-airport parking lots listed on the website have restricted the number of available parking reservations and some are raising rates as they anticipate filling up their lots over the extended Thanksgiving weekend.

AirportParkingReservations.com predicts the same kind of airport parking shortages during Christmas and school vacation periods this winter.

“Although every day we get closure or rate adjustment requests in response to high demand, we’ve worked hard to offer as many choices as possible in the markets we serve. As long as travelers plan in advance, they should do ok.” reports Tom Lombardi, President of AirportParkingReservations.com.

While all travelers make airline reservations and most make hotel and car reservations, airport parking reservations are increasingly advisable for a stress free, enjoyable trip.

About AirportParkingReservations.com

At AirportParkingReservations.com, travelers provide their itinerary and airport of departure before choosing from over 150 airport parking operators providing a range of parking options (including self, valet, indoor/covered). The parking lots are secure, most offer discounted rates, and all provide free shuttle service with complimentary luggage assistance to and from the airport terminals.
